

The Lancaster County Conservancy is dedicated to saving and connecting people with nature. We address this mission through protecting and preserving land in the county, providing direct programming, and serving as a catalyst to inform and motivate others to do the same. Presentations are available for small and large groups in our community.

During my presentation I:

- Create awareness of the Lancaster County Conservancy: – 34 Nature Preserves – 4,900 acres open to the public. I discuss our mission, goals, organization, and opportunities.
- Talk about the opportunities available through the preserves and protected areas. This can be of special interest to photography clubs, birding, hiking, running, and nature groups, plus include individuals interested in being introduced to these activities.
- Discuss our expanded mission of creating partnerships through education. Target the Richard Louv books...Last Child in The Woods and The Nature Principle, Live Green programs in Lancaster City.
- Provide information regarding our plans for the Welsh Mountain Preserve, Camp Snyder, and I have site maps, pictures, and posters.
- Offer opportunities for members of an organization to become part of the Conservancy and the work that is being accomplished.
- Address questions and receive input. I like to create discussion and receive input. I solicit suggestions for our educational program and efforts at the Conservancy as well as gather various perspectives. How can we support our community?
- Stress getting into nature, physical activity, fitness, and mental health. We partner with Lighten Up Lancaster to project healthy life styles and the benefits of nature.

I have been invited and presented to... employee benefits and wellness fairs, community organizations, clubs, scouts, retirement centers, teachers, administrative teams, Millersville U., F&M, HACC, Pa. Green Builders Association, Pa. Audubon, and the Lancaster Sierra Club. To over fifty presentations have been given. I welcome your input and suggestions for scheduling presentations in 2013. Thank you.
